Aviation hospitality sector in today's times is a trending career in India and globally. It has a plethora of job opportunities ranging from ground staff, engineers, cabin crew to becoming a pilot.

Resource Person: Mr. Imran Syed

An insightful Session on “Career Prospects in Aviation and Hospitality Industry” was held on 3rd August 2021 for the students of III Year B.Com, BBA and BCA. The Resource Persons were Mr. Imran Syed, Ms. Rekha Imran, Ms. Sheral Pereira and Ms. Prachi Badhe.

The session commenced with an introduction of the resource persons by Ms. Aishwarya B. of III Year B.Com. The resource persons highlighted on the career prospects in Aviation and Hospitality Industry.

The resource person captured on following areas of discussion:

- a. Benefits of working for an Aviation and Hospitality Industry
- b. What does it take to be an airline professional

Aviation is a huge industry that offers diverse and exciting opportunities for development and progression. The Aviation & Hospitality industry in the last decade has promised an excellent scope of growth in India as well as worldwide and has vast job opportunities in various fields like a pilot, aircraft maintenance engineer, cabin crew, ground staff, hotels and customer services that brings enormous benefits to communities and economies around the globe. The aviation and hospitality industry is still one of the best career options that offers a challenging and rewarding career to an individual who wants to spread its wings to reach new heights in their career.

Resource person Mr. Syed Imran highlighted that travelling the world and flying high in the sky is one’s dream and if they are passionate about accomplishing it then, aviation industry offers lot of opportunities all over the world.

Resource Person Ms. Rekha Imran highlighted on the traits of being an airline professional to make a perfect candidate. The following traits need to be possessed:

- a. Pleasant personality, kind heart, willingness to help others, positive mind----- the key strengths.
- b. Basic education, fluency in language, valid documents, healthy lifestyle and appropriate body structure.

Resource Person Ms. Sheral Pereira emphasized on the benefits of working for an aviation industry and Hospitality industry.

The benefits include:

1. Travel Opportunities
2. Meeting New People
3. The Opportunities to develop your Career
4. Company Benefits
5. Lifestyle Benefits

The World Tourism Council forecasts that, by 2029, the travel and leisure industry will account for 11.5% of the worlds' GDP, while also providing jobs for more than 420 million. This is fantastic news because, with the onset of AI and automation, many roles in other sectors are becoming redundant in the workplace.

The even better news is that because hospitality is founded on human interaction, and the soft skills that are essential to it, the industry is much less likely to be affected by automation.

Resource Person Ms. Prachi Badhe emphasized on various Skills Required for Aviation Hospitality Courses:

- Reliable
- Team worker
- Presence of mind
- Determination
- Language skills
- Good health & physical fitness
- Agility & good sense of balance

- Technical skills & understanding
