Subject: Event Report (Summer Mela)

We began our workaholic semester by organising a stall in the two day summer mela event that even made a debut in the calendar of our college events. The budding Leos were really enthusiastic and motivated towards working in the stall which was created for providing relief for the students from this summer heat. The Leos also had worked hard in pooling in their ideas so as to decide upon as to what is to be sold in the stall, finally after a lot of thought process it was decided that the Elite Horizonites stall of summer mela would provide customers with watermelon and mango pieces with the latter being garnished with a pinch of chat masala and also that we would provide lemonade with a Vada pav. This mouth watering menu was more than enough to attract a lot of customers to provide them respite from the summer heat. It was really a great experience being in the stall.

Especially the second half of the day was very much exciting and thrilling as the crowd increased and we had to manage the crowd. Selling the items in a hygienic and clean manner without causing any problems to the customer was our goal. I personally believe that the Leos stood up perfectly to the goal. At the end of the two day extravaganza we had collected a humongous amount of ₹3,950 with an investment of ₹2,506 resulting in profit of ₹1,444 which at the closure of stall was donated to the welfare of orphanage kids.
